From the Editor

It's time to go on vacation, lie on the beach, take the kids to the lake, and go visit Aunt Sue on the farm. When the kids are out of school, we do a lot of traveling. Camping is a big attraction: heading off into the mountains, sleeping on the ground, cooking over an open fire, hiking, and peeing behind a bush.

I did my fair share of camping when I was younger, but my idea of having fun while camping has changed drastically. We still head for the mountains, but now it's a reservation at the resort. Breakfast at the restaurant, sitting on the big porch in a rocking chair enjoying the scenery, taking a nap, and then heading to the nearest town for shopping.

Karen Saari

I'm not interested in sleeping on the cold, hard ground. Besides, if I get on the ground, getting up is not that easy, and that whole peeing behind a bush thing: well, the last time I did that, I peed all over my jeans. I never did figure that one out.

In my day, cooking dinner in my kitchen is enough work. Why would I want to do that without electricity, or a nice, clean slicing surface?

Reservations are the way to go at this age, (unless you have a nice RV, then go that way). I know the younger generation scoffs and points, but I paid my dues. So what if they can head into the wilderness with one backpack and a rolled up mummy bag? I can head to the nearby village to shop with one credit card.

Karen

Our Commitment to Our Readers and to Quality

Here, at The Quilt Pattern Magazine, we are committed to bringing you top-quality patterns that you can depend upon. Our designers are required to have completed their original quilts and to have their patterns tested before submitting them to us. Our team of editors (who are all quilters, too!) then format the patterns (retaining national spellings) and send them out for testing again. Our testers follow the directions from beginning to end, making the entire top (not just a few blocks), including multiple sizes when necessary, to ensure that the materials list, directions, illustrations, and templates, are all accurate.
